St. James's, April 16.

THE following Addreſs has been preſented to His Majeſty by John St. Lo, Eſq; (late Commander of His Majeſty's Ship Ludlow Caſtle) introduced by the Right Honourable the Lord Viſcount Torrington; which his Majeſty was pleaſed to receive very graciouſly.

To the King's moſt Excellent Majeſty,

The humble Addreſs of the Captain and Officers of His Majeſty Ship Ludlow Caſtle, and the Fiſhing Admirals and Commanders in the Harbour of Placentia, and thoſe in the ſeveral Harbours and Iſlands on the Southern Coaſts of Newfoundland, together with the principal Inhabitants thereof.

Dread Sovereign,

WE your Majeſty's loyal and dutiful Subjects, moſt heartily condole your Majeſty on the Death of our late Sovereign (your Royal Father of glorious Memory); at this Juncture cannot ſufficiently expreſs the Happineſs we ſhall enjoy in a ſucceeding Monarch, endowed with ſuch excellent Perfections, which (with much Satisfaction we profeſs) fills the Hearts of all true Britons with Joy, Tranſport and Admiration.

May your Majeſty and Royal Conſort long live to reign over us, and continue to encreaſe your Royal Family for the Happineſs of your People, and for the Maintenance and Support of our Laws, Religion, and true Virtue.

The Fiſhery being no ſmall Branch of the publick Revenue, we ſhall with the utmoſt Care and Pains endeavour to encreaſe it; and as ſome Parts of the ſaid Fiſhery have been conſiderably improved of late Years, we humbly beg your Majeſty's Protection, and though we are not equal in Capacity to the moſt powerful of your Majeſty's Subjects, yet in Duty, Loyalty and Affection, we ſhall bear up to none: This, Sir, we beg Leave to aſſure your Majeſty, and moſt ſubmiſſively declare ourſelves, with the utmoſt ſincerity,

May it pleaſe your Majeſty,

Your Majeſty's moſt dutiful and loyal Subjects.
